

Controller's Council: How CAOs and CIOs Are Collaborating to Drive Transformation

Wednesday, February 23, 2022 | 11:00 AM Pacific Standard Time

Program Description

Hybrid work. Cybersecurity. Regulatory compliance. New business models. Accounting and IT leaders have a growing list of priorities. Added to traditional responsibilities like change requests, maintenance, and close tasks, CAOs and CIOs are faced with limited resource capacity and talent retention concerns.

Traditional manual accounting processes drain capacity and create unnecessary chaos, and driving an urgency for transformation and presenting new opportunities for CAO and CIO collaboration.

Leading technology like The BlackLine Accounting Cloud helps leaders address their growing priorities by optimize capacity and accelerating digitization with automation and enhanced control.

In this session, we will discuss:

- What the modern CAO and CIO partnership looks like and how it's evolving to include more collaboration
- Why 82% of Accounting and IT leaders say their experiences over the past 12 months have intensified their interest in modernizing accounting processes
- How BlackLine is helping companies save time and enable a world-class technology ecosystem
